The Herces of the Rail.

The Higation in which the rival railroad corporations of New York are constantly involved has come to be an important, and, at the same time, a complicated and picture-sque department of metropolitan life. It is altogether rid of the duliness which usually marks the progress of legal proceedings. The incidents and the degenatio percone are thoroughly novel and racy. The disclosures are more or less piquant, if not startling. The whole business is sensational in the highest degree, and as the eye wanders over solid gree, and as the eye wauders over solid colums of testimony, enlivened here and there by dislogues which not unfrequently remind one of the old comedies, it is cer-tain to fall upon matter for reflection. Here is the latest installment, full of the

In his famous case city, in which he so signality issued, he, with the approval of the then Commissioner, Mr. Rollma, ignored the existence of revenue officers here and acted in such a manner as to invite not only their contempt, but that, also, of the legal officers. Parties, who went from here to investigate this case, came trees. Those interested, however, to their credit be it inicrested, however, to their credit be it said, peremptorily scorned the proposition, and the case, though hurried on to trial, in the absence, caused by sickness, of the principal council for the defense, was deceded for the defense. This man Bailey was a great fellow to keep himself prominently before the public as a most energetic officer. Every day some paper had some notice of him. he was after certain bankers for not making proper reports, and again his unbalterms were having fights with parties who who are constantly having themselves hersided in the newspapers, are universally to be regarded with distrust and suspicion.

Sooner or later their true characters will their credit, or to those who keep them in office. We might mention some of this class, but it is needless, for, life Balley's
